

FINANCE FOR GREEN

---

Green Procurement
Solutions in Developing Nations

$$$

One of the primary financial challenges faced by developing countries in implementing green procurement practices revolves around the higher costs associated with sustainable alternatives.

RESEARCH QUESTIONS

1

What are the primary financial challenges faced by developing countries in implementing green procurement practices?

2

How can innovative financing mechanisms be utilised within supply chains to support green procurement in developing economies?

3

How can supply chain collaboration and integration enhance cost-efficiency and financial viability of green procurement in developing countries?

ROADBLOCKS

Limited Capital

Difficulty in securing loans or investment for green projects

High upfront costs

Significant initial investment needed for eco-friendly technologies and sustainable materials.

Uncertain (ROI)

Perceived financial risk with unclear or delayed returns on investments

FINANCIAL INNOVATIONS

SUPPLIER FINANCING PROGRAMS

An MNC offers low-interest loans to suppliers

GREEN LEASING

A textile company leases solar-powered generators for its factories,

ON-BILL FINANCING

A producer installs water-efficient irrigation and repays the cost reduced water bills

GREEN CREDIT LINES

A bank offers a credit line to a construction firm for buying green building materials

INDIA

Public-private partnerships to implement sustainable infrastructure projects, Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC)

KENYA

The floriculture industry is a significant sector in Kenya, known for its export of flowers to European markets.

Businesses within the industry formed cooperatives to bulk-purchase eco-friendly inputs like organic fertilizers and water-efficient irrigation systems.

Supplier Collaboration

Establish long-term partnerships with suppliers committed to sustainability.

Technology Integration

Adopt digital tools for supply chain transparency and traceability.

Joint Procurement Initiatives

Collaborate with other businesses to bulk-purchase sustainable products.

SUPPLIER POWER

Sustainable procurement is not a choice, it's our path to a resilient future.

---

Some Procurement Staff Just Want to Watch the World Burn

THANK YOU!